

BOOST EMPLOYEE EXPERTISE

Your home health care company is only as effective as its employees. To keep them in step and make sure they're continually learning and excelling, turn to InService Club.

Top-notch training and employee confidence are critical to ensuring quality of care. With new research, stringent regulations, and higher standards among patients, your staff needs to be kept up-to-date to provide patients with the premium service they deserve.

At InService Club, we understand the unique educational requirements of the health care industry. Our system offers interactive, web-based instruction and assessment for home health aides. You'll stay apprised of your employees' expertise, while they'll have the opportunity to earn CEU credits in their specialty area.

As a home care business owner, you can purchase inservices individually or join the club to receive them in bulk. Members will enjoy special club discounts on subsequent purchases, and will also have access to a company account that can be accessed from any web browser. And with our convenient, interactive course, home health aides can measure their knowledge with an online examination.

Don't let another day go by without ensuring your staff's expertise and performance. To keep their skills sharply honed, help your company remain in compliance of state requirements, and potentially save thousands of dollars, contact InService today for more information.
