

Benefits of Using an Online Dating Network

Between cheesy singles bars, blind dates, office romances that end in disaster, and social events that seem to be chock full of married couples, the traditional dating landscape is challenging at best. And even if you're lucky enough to stumble upon someone who piques your interest, how do you know if they're available and open to a new relationship? It's all enough to make you want to hunker down and declare a life of celibacy.

Fortunately, the Internet has drastically increased the opportunities for you to meet Ms. Right. Approximately 40 million people currently use online dating sites as their primary method of meeting other singles—and with numbers like those, the odds are in your favor. Modern technologies and open minds have revolutionized online dating, making it the rule rather than the exception.

Still on the fence? Let's take a look at some of the key benefits of using an online dating network to find a friend, love connection, or possibly even a soul mate.

1. It's discreet. Instead of getting dressed up and heading out to a night club, you can peruse the cyber-dating world from the comfort and privacy of home.
2. It's easy. All you need is a computer, an Internet connection, and the small membership fee to get started.
3. Time is on your side. When you meet someone in person, there's pressure to always be "on", ready to volley back a smart, funny answer to whatever question is thrown your way. With online dating, you can take your time crafting a response, ensuring that you get the right message across.
4. It widens your horizons. By limiting yourself to the prospects in your community, workplace, or church, you're dramatically lowering your chances of success in finding love. On the Internet, you can broaden your search to include a wider geographical range, opening a whole new world of adventure and possibility.
5. You'll learn more. Because there's less fear of embarrassment or judgment, people who are chatting online tend to share more details than they would if they were talking in person.
6. You'll establish a mental connection. Sure, a good profile photo may initially pique your interest, but after that your chemistry will be based on written communications of thoughts, ideas, likes, and dislikes. It can be exciting to build up your online chemistry well before you meet in person.

7. It's safe. All members are carefully screened and given personality tests before being added to our dating database. You'll have full control over how much of your personal information is revealed.
8. You'll save time. How many countless hours have you invested in boring parties, smoke-filled bars, cheesy mixers, and horrific blind dates? With online dating, all of the guesswork is eliminated. Instead of wandering aimlessly from one fruitless social venue to another, you can enter your criteria, sort the results, and instantly explore pre-screened profiles of people whose activities and interests match yours.
9. You'll save money. How much do you think you've spent on expensive dates that ultimately went nowhere? Online dating allows you to screen prospective partners before investing time and money on dinners, movies, and other social events.
10. You can get to know multiple people at once. Increase your odds of success by chatting with as many singles as you'd like at the same time.

Ready to start reaping the rewards of online dating? If you're new, it's quick and easy to create a profile. If you're already a member, sit back and browse hundreds of eligible singles.