

Scheduling can be a business owner's worst nightmare.

It doesn't have to be yours.

Dear xxx,

As a company leader, you already know your profitability is dependent on the productivity of your employees. If your personnel resources aren't properly allocated, your bottom line will suffer.

What are the risks of staff scheduling problems? Without a dedicated workforce management system, problems start cropping up: managers make uninformed decisions, production cycles get delayed, dissatisfied customers go elsewhere, employees become disgruntled, productivity levels drop, labor laws get violated, deadlines get missed, and budgets get stretched beyond their limits. And if all that wasn't enough, critical information about the relationship between staff costs and revenue can go completely missing.

Schedule24 Professional can help. To simplify complex operations, we've designed a streamlined scheduling solution for companies of all sizes and industries. Our innovative software helps you intelligently analyze the impact of staffing costs, leading to more informed decisions, better understanding of personnel availability, and quicker conflict resolution. Up-to-date workforce compliance information also helps reduce potentially expensive labor disputes.

Schedule 24 helps you to:

- Create schedule reports
- Consolidate staff information
- Modify schedules on-the-fly
- Share information online or via email
- Calculate cost variables

Don't be fooled. Many software providers lure customers in by offering workforce management "add-ons" to larger enterprise systems. But these limited solutions, which often end up costing millions of dollars and countless personnel hours, are usually missing the built-in logic required to handle complex, time-based scheduling patterns. Schedule24, on the other hand, is an intelligently designed system dedicated solely to workflow management. You'll be better equipped to make cost-impacting decisions while boosting employee satisfaction, reducing turnover, and lowering training costs.

Balance staff size and work hours for a quick ROI. With Schedule24, you'll get a comprehensive - yet affordable - workforce scheduling solution to get the most out of your team. 30 minutes of your time could net you 30% savings in staffing costs. Take the first step toward profitable workflow management by scheduling a free, no-obligation demonstration. Call us today at (617) 379-2709.
